The Idaho Department of Fish and Game (IDFG) will present to the Mayor and City Council of Victor, Idaho about wildlife habitat and use of the Teton Front (aka Victor Front). Portions of this area are subject to a proposed trail development on Bureau of Land Management (BLM) lands. The Project area includes some of the only publicly owned foothills ecotone habitat in southern Teton Valley. It is a relatively pristine mosaic of native vegetation on low-elevation south and west facing slopes. The area has been identified as a wildlife conservation priority due to its landscape and slope position, existing vegetation, and especially because it provides some of the last remaining high-quality big game habitat in an increasingly fragmented landscape. It is also documented as important habitat for two species listed as Threatened under the Endangered Species Act. IDFG has no regulatory authority over any lands in the proposed trail area. However, IDFG has communicated the importance of this area to various regulatory entities over the years including Teton County Commissioners, the Caribou-Targhee National Forest, Upper Snake Field Office BLM and the public. The Teton Front is identified in Teton County's Natural Resource Overlay as vital for conservation of the County's big game. It is also highlighted as a planning focal area for wildlife conservation in A.Summary.of.Fish.and.Wildlife.Resources.in.Teton.County?Idaho (IDFG 2022).
